MOUNT PISGAH GRAVEYARD
WEST OF GEORGETOWN
VERMILION COUNTY, ILLINOIS

Mount Pisgah Presbyterian Church, together with its cemetery, lie three miles west of Georgetown. In the fifties, Levi Long and David Swank bought the site of the old graveyard and dedicated it for a permanent burial ground.

It had, however, been used for some thirty years prior to this as a private "bury hole", as it was termed.

It is said two graves were made in 1827, but earlier dates have been found. Mr. W. L. Long claims he found a stone bearing date of 1822; but none of these stones can now be located (1939.)

There are four markers of a very primitive nature-indestructible, sturdy cypress posts. In 1939 the inscriptions which they bore were scarcely legible.

Among other marked graves, are those of two soldiers of the War of 1812, and one of the Black Hawk War.
